Course Overview:
Introduction to Organization Theory and Practice is an introductory course taught within the context of the School of Education and Social Policy as part of its Learning and Organizational Change (LOC) concentration. A basic premise of the course is that a fundamental process for improving people’s lives and the institutions in which they live and work is the creation and sharing of knowledge. Learning is mediated by the context in which it occurs. This course pays special attention to organizations as a context and analyzes this context through different lenses of organizational theory. Throughout the course students will learn multiple frameworks for observing and analyzing organizations. Using these frameworks, the course will provide students with social science tools needed to analyze organizational problems and influence the actions of individuals, groups and organizations. Students will begin to understand how to best organize and motivate the human capital of the firm, manage social networks and alliances, and execute strategic change. This will be accomplished through knowledge of competitive decision-making, reward system design, team building, strategic negotiation, political dynamics and corporate culture.
Course Objectives:
1. You will understand more about the nature of complex organizations by using different theoretical frameworks for analyzing organizational issues and scenarios.
2. You will increase your ability to think about and use theories as tools for analysis.
3. You will deepen your understanding of the role of knowledge in organizations.
4. You will demonstrate your skill in recognizing organizational issues by assessing organizational effectiveness as well as making recommendations to improve it.

Assignments and Grading:
Your final grade is composed of:
1. Course Contribution 10%
2. Journal Assignment 10%
3. Individual Paper 10%
4. Case Analysis 15%
5. Exam 25%
6. Team Project (Paper and Presentation) 30%

Course Contribution (10%)
I. Individual Participation: All class sessions involve active discussion based on the readings and cases, with an emphasis both on theoretical questions and practical implications. You should be prepared to share your ideas and to listen and interpret the issues presented by others.

Quality discussion comments possess one or more of the following attributes:
• Offer a relevant perspective on the issue. Comments should increase everyone’s understanding, and should not merely be a regurgitation of the readings.
• Provide careful analysis, and demonstrate evidence of a thorough reading and analysis of the materials.
• Apply the theory and concepts offered in the reading and lectures
• Move the discussion forward by building on previous contributions with new insights

Regular participation in discussions and class exercises is expected. Class participation is critical because much of the experiential work takes place during our regularly scheduled session together. If you must miss a class, it is essential that you notify me at least 24 hours in advance so that I can make arrangements for any in-class exercises and so that you can be certain to get the materials that will be distributed during class. Students who do not provide advance notice of absences will be penalized.

II. Outside Class Assignments: Several assignments will be distributed throughout the quarter that must be completed outside of class. Successful completion of these projects will be factored into your course contribution grade. These assignments include:
1. Team Contract
2. Shared Activity
3. Negotiation Exercise

Detailed information about each of these assignments will be provided when they are distributed in class.

Journal Assignment (10%)
The purpose of the journal is to encourage you to reflect on the course readings, and to analyze what you have learned from these materials. Your task in this entry is to describe your reactions, perceptions, and significant insights gained from the readings. The journal entry should not be a summary of everything that you read in the textbooks. Rather, the journal entry should focus on issues such as:

A. What did you learn about organizations from the readings and lectures?
B. What did you learn about the behavior of individuals within an organization from the readings and lectures?
C. How do the concepts presented in the readings and lectures enrich your understanding of the ways in which organizations and the people working in them function?
D. How can you apply the concepts that you have learned about in the readings to an organization where you have worked in the past?
E. How will the concepts that you learned about effect the way that you will behave in future work environments?

The journal entry should be about 2 pages in length, (double-spaced, Times New Roman, 12-point font). You must turn in one journal entry, based on any of Bolman and Deal’s four frameworks. You should choose the framework that resonates most with you. The due date for the journal assignment depends on the framework that you choose to analyze. Due dates, and corresponding frames are listed below:

Individual Paper (10%)
The purpose of the individual paper is to encourage you to analyze your own behavior within organizations using tools and frameworks that we have discussed in class on January 20th.

Case Study (15%)
The purpose of the case study is to encourage you to analyze an organization using the theoretical frameworks that we have discussed in class. You will also be asked to apply the concepts that you have read about in the course readings. More details about the assignment will be distributed in class on February 3rd. The assignment is due on February 17th.

Exam (25%)
The exam will be a closed-book exam that will consist of a series of multiple choice, short answer, and essay questions. The exam will be given in class on March 3rd.

Team Project (30%)
Detailed information about this assignment will be distributed in class. An outline of the project is due on January 27th. The 10-12 page analysis is due in class on March 10th. In addition, on March 10th each Learning Group will make a 10 minute presentation of their findings and analysis. During the presentation you should highlight 2 key organizational strengths and 2 organizational weaknesses that your analysis revealed. Presentations cannot be longer that ten minutes, and points will be deducted if your presentation runs longer than ten minutes. Your presentation will also be graded on creativity.

Group Participation: You will have the opportunity to evaluate the work completed by your Learning Group teammates on the Team Project paper and presentation. See the evaluation form at the end of the syllabus for the specific criteria on which you will evaluate each other. These evaluations will be factored into your Team Project grade.
